There was a touch of whiter in the air when Chaplain Edwin G. Smith of Governor's Island performed the veremony and heavy wraps and coats covered their wedding attire. Lieut. Paddock served as best man for the bridgeroom.

A wedding dinner was served in the home of Lieut, and Mrs. Paddock on the reservation. A special trip of the ferry boat that runs between the Battery and Bedioc's Island was made for the couple, who will live in Blairstown after their wedding tour.

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK SINGS GERMAN SONGS Dozen of 4,000 Quit Newark

Concert-Others Applaud. Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink sang

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink sang four songs in German at a concert in the First Regiment Armory, Newark, Wednesday night, and was applauded after offering a defence of her action. Except for these four numbers, the programme was in English. It closed with "The Star Spangled Banner." About 4,000 attended.

As Mme. Schumann-Heink began sing-ng the first song in German a man litting near the front of the house rose with his wife and daughter. All were n evening dress. As they walked out, in evening dress. As they walked out, the man taiked excitedly to his wife, and tapped heavily with his cane on the aisle. About a dozen others followed his example. The rest of the audience made no atempt to leave or cause a demonstration. At the end of the song Mms. Schumann-Heink stepped to the edge of the stage and said:

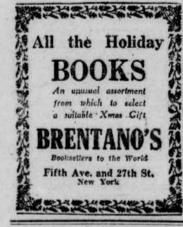

"Atthough I sing these songs in German, I am a good American. The war is over, and I see no reason why I should not sing them. During the war I sang many times to the boys in the camps, and think I was as patriotic as any one. But I think the time has come when we ought to lay our hostility aside and be at peace."

There was loud applause, and the singer continued the programme without further incident. It was learned that further incident. It was learned that several persons had asked Joseph A. Fuerstman, who was managing the concert, whether the German numbers could not be omitted, but he said he could do nothing about it.

Mrs. Elise H. Volck BROADWAY SEES FUNEREAL PHASES OF BLUE SUNDAY

Mournful Parade Depicts on Floats Puritan Punishments for Sabbath Whistling, Kissing and Smoking-Dirge Adds to Effect of Sorrow.

The first of a series of parades which the International Sporting Club will stage to illustrate what might happen if the Rev. Harry L. Bowlby and the Lord's Day Alliance succeed in painting the town blue was held in Fifth avenue and Broadway yesterday, and a miserable and mournful time was had by all. The procession passed the building in which Dr. Bowlby has his offices, but the minister did not appear at the window to give three cheers for the marchers.

The parade comprised a band and floats, and several humans whose faces were cloaked in misery and sorrow. The band played many funeral marches alternating them with "Gee, but this is a lonesome town." There were five foats, on trucks drawn by horses liberally decorated with crepe, and each float represented some phase of Puritan punishment, with the characters clothed in Puritan costumes.
